Henry's Retirement

Retiral dinner held for 'film star' Henry

Crane Operator Henry Duff has just retired after 21 years with James Jack Lifting Services Ltd, with a dinner and presentation attended by friends and work colleagues, at the Lovat Arms Hotel Beaully. Mr and Mrs Jack, who are pictured on the right handing over their gift to Henry, his wife Anne accompanying them.

During his time with the company, Henry worked all over Scotland and the Outer Isles. Reminiscing on one of the jobs that made him a 'film star' he told of the times he had working with Mel Gibson in the Braveheart film, when he was employed to operate his crane and lighting equipment and provide the moonlight effect on Glen Nevis.
